

JI Xinran

Partner

city:
Shanghai

phone:
021-5237 7005

e-mail:
jixinran@baclaw.com

Professional expertise

International investment, international trade, international intellectual property protection, and international dispute resolution

Personal Profile

Ji Xinran has been practicing law for 13 years and has obtained a Master's degree in Civil and Commercial Law from East China University of Political Science and Law, a Master's degree in International Economic Law from American University, and a Master's degree in Intellectual Property Law from George Washington University. Joined Beijing Bangsheng (Shanghai) Law Firm in 2023, currently mainly providing international investment, international trade, and international intellectual property services for cross-border investors, and providing legal services related to cross-border engineering contracting and cross-border labor contracting for contractors or service providers.

Representative performance

• Representing a Jiangsu based company in investing in a solar cell production project in Indonesia;

• Proxy for the equity acquisition case between a steel structure company in Nantong and a building materials company in Shanghai;

• Representing a brand development company in Shanghai to invest in Malaysia and Singapore, providing intellectual property protection solutions and investment risk assessment plans;

• Acting as an agent for multiple large-scale construction contract disputes between a construction general contracting company in Shanghai and a listed real estate development company in Zhejiang;

• Represented thousands of trademark and copyright applications, reviews, and revocation cases, and successfully represented Apple, Nestle, and other companies in trademark opposition disputes with clients.